*Classroom Law Project
Summer Institute:
Unpacking the NEW High School
WTP Textbook*

This don't-miss Institute offers high school teachers a week-long opportunity to immerse oneself in the U.S. Constitution, civics, and current events with colleagues from across the state led by Hon. Susan Leeson, co-author of the newly revised WTP text in the spectacular high desert resort at Kah-nee-ta. How cool is that?

Learn about civics, government, and the highly acclaimed high school We the People program at a professional development program offered by CLASSROOM LAW PROJECT

REGISTRATION MATERIALS ENCLOSED

Institute participants will return to schools knowing more about

- the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights;
- how to connect current events with the Constitution; and
- great teaching strategies for use in the classroom including how to do simulated congressional hearings.

Participants will leave this Institute with a set of classroom textbooks, reference books, lessons, materials, and ideas that can immediately be put to work in classrooms.

This Institute offers two tracks: one for veteran We the People teachers, and one for those just starting out.
